
Agents use shared rules for simulation; the runner updates the authoritative game state.